Fifty years of fights and freedoms

“Whereas recognition of the inherent dignity and of the equal and inalienable rights of all members of the human family is the foundation of freedom, justice and peace in the world...”

“Where, after all,
do universal
rights begin?
In small places, close to home—so close and so small they cannot be seen on any maps of the world. Yet they are the world of the individual person; the neighborhood he or she lives in; the school he or she attends; the factory, farm, or office where he or she works. Such are the places where every man, woman and child seeks equal justice, equal opportunity, equal dignity without discrimination.”

---Eleanor Roosevelt

Opening with this preamble, the Universal Declaration of Human Rights was penned in December, 1948 by the member-states of the United Nations. It is a document created at a time when the world had only begun to realize the horror and barbarism of the second World War.

The Declaration
was intended to create a standard for peace and the inherent rights of every human being...

Nowhere in this world are these human rights absolutely guaranteed. We still fight for them to be applied to all people, everywhere, equally. We have to ensure the rights of future generations to a healthy planet: one free of environmental devastation, discrimination, arbitrary arrest, torture, unfair labor and unfair pay. Take a look at these thirty articles.

50 years later...

Read each one and relate it back to your life. See how many of these you enjoy everyday and how many more address issues we have never had to think about. These are the rights of all people, but the reality of so few... Here are just a few organizations in the San Francisco Bay Area that work to forward and protect our rights everyday. Learn more about them and lend them a hand.....
